General Description

The Institute for Justice and Opportunity (the Institute) seeks a full-time Program Coordinator to provide programmatic support for the Navigator Certificate in Human Services & Community Justice training program. The goal of this training program is to prepare people with lived experience in the criminal legal system for employment and advancement in the field of human services. The course offers participants an opportunity to develop human service career pathways toward meaningful employment options with increasing responsibility and salary. In addition, the Navigator program is an on-ramp to higher education, granting academic credit to those that enroll in select colleges after completion.

ABOUT THE INSTITUTE:

John Jay College Institute for Justice and Opportunity (The Institute) opens doors and eliminates barriers to success for people who have been involved in the criminal legal system as a champion of institutional, structural, and personal transformation. The Institute is one of twelve research entities that collectively comprise the Research Consortium of the John Jay College of Criminal Justice. The Institute has a diverse portfolio of projects that focus on identifying what it takes for people to live successfully in the community after justice involvement and on increasing the effectiveness of the professionals and systems working with them. Recognizing the transformational power of education, the Institute focuses much of its work on increasing access to higher education for people with criminal histories. The Institute's comprehensive and strategic approach includes direct service, research, and technical assistance. To learn more please visit our website: <https://justiceandopportunity.org/>
