General Description

The mission of the U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) Small Business Transportation Resource Center- Northeast Region (SBTRC), hosted by LaGuardia Community College/City University of New York is to help small and emerging contractors with improving their chances of getting awarded transportation-related contracts and successfully performing on them. The SBTRC does this through training and counseling that enhances the development of contractors in the areas of business management skills, accounting skills, and credit programs.

The Program Coordinator of the SBTRC is responsible for assisting the Project Director with carrying out the activities associated with the Bonding Education Program (BEP) and general contractor development. The BEP is a national program designed to aid construction and construction-related contractors with becoming bond-ready. The BEP consists of a 6-9 week educational component with which the program initiates, and the Bond-Readiness component which involves following up with contractors for one year after completion of the educational component. The follow-up consists of one-on-one counseling sessions that will help the contractor advance their pursuit of submitting an application for bonding. The assistance consists of providing business development support through one-on-one counseling, group training via live workshop presentations, and referral services to appropriate resources. The successful candidate will assist with:

- Imparting knowledge of construction industry-related subjects such as project estimating, or contract bidding, or contract financing, or accounting.
- Stakeholder and resource partners communication and follow-up
- Coordination of marketing efforts
- Outreach coordination with local contractors
- Follow-up with contractors who need assistance with bonding, financing, certification, and overall government contracting assistance.
- Imparting knowledge of federal programs for small businesses, particularly the USDOT Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE) certification program.
