Other Duties

The Creative Arts Team (CAT) at the City University of New York uses the power of drama to support education, build social-emotional competencies and foster success in hundreds of classrooms, CBOs and other sites across NYC each year. Celebrating its 40th Anniversary, CAT has worked with more than one million youth -- students who reflect the City's economic, ethnic, and cultural diversity. CAT's professional Actor-Teachers use the key components of drama -- character, collaboration, story, and the dynamic relationship between actor and audience -- to create one-of-a-kind interactive learning experiences for young people to acquire concrete skills they can reapply in their own lives. As a $3 million program within The City University of New York (CUNY) - Office of Academic Affairs, CAT also collaborates with a wide range of CUNY programs that strengthen the educational experience of future and current college students. CUNY's Master of Arts in Applied Theatre was developed by CAT and is offered by the CUNY School of Professional Studies in partnership with CAT. It is the nation's first M.A. in Applied Theatre -- Using Theatre to "Facilitate, Educate, Activate."

The Position: The Budget Director provides oversight, management and hands-on coordination of CAT's financial and personnel functions. The Budget Director works closely with the Executive Director, Artistic and Education Director, Director of Resource Development, Director of Administration, to set organizational priorities, develop financial forecasting, and generate internal and external financial reports. The successful candidate will be a participatory manager and will lead and develop an internal team to support all areas of finance, business planning and budgeting, and personnel to ensure CAT's program quality, fiscal strength, and high-functioning administration.
