General Description

Mission / Overview

The CUNY Office of Careers and Industry Partnerships (OCIP) is dedicated to the mission of connecting academic pursuits with career success. OCIP works closely with industry to understand the skills required for the most in-demand jobs and trains City University of New York (CUNY) students in those skills to prepare them for early and sustained career success. OCIP's spectrum of programs are designed to give students an advantage in the job market and help students advance in their careers after securing a job.

The CUNY Futures in Finance initiative and its founding partners, Centerbridge Partners, Bloomberg L.P., and Goldman Sachs, aims to build CUNY's capacity for career success, prepare and connect CUNY students and graduates to careers in financial services and the investment industry, and expand CUNY's employer partnerships to increase access, job placements and advance social and economic mobility. The initiative's founding CUNY colleges are Brooklyn College, City College of New York, and Lehman College. This position is based at the Brooklyn College campus. Newly created roles include a centrally based Director and campus-based teams comprised of an Associate Director, Student Outreach Coordinator, and Career Coach that will work collaboratively to develop and implement the initiative's goals and curate the student experience.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Reporting to the CUNY Futures in Finance Associate Director, the Student Engagement Coordinator is a new role that will benefit from a creative and strategic thinker committed to economic and social mobility. This is an exciting opportunity to support the launch of a strategic initiative that could establish best practices for industry engagement within the higher education space and would ideally be replicated/scaled across the system, both within CUNY and across the sector.

The Coordinator will be responsible for ensuring the Futures in Finance initiative is effectively marketed and accessible to students pursuing careers in the finance sector. Core to the role, you will work closely with staff and faculty, student leaders and groups, social media and communications teams to provide a clear point of engagement for student. By building and expanding the connective tissue between career success-oriented initiatives on campus, the Coordinator will directly contribute to the university's goals for post-graduate career outcomes. Key Performance Indicators include increasing internship participation rates and the rate of students placed in jobs in the financial sector above a living wage at scale at Brooklyn College. This role will work in partnership with Futures in Finance teams across all 3 pilot colleges to enhance programming and share best practices to improve student outcomes.

Other Duties

- Creates and distributes marketing and promotional and event materials for Futures in Finance programming
- Assist with coordinating, executing, and conducting workshops, events, and other programming to build student awareness for the initiative with a high retention rate
- Serve as liaison to internal and external stakeholders including, faculty, campus wide departments, particularly advising, student life, and career services
- Collaborate with the Associate Director by providing reports, statistics, and other analytic support relating to the program's annual objectives
- Develop initiatives and activities to educate and engage non-profit students to increase engagement and participation
- Solicit feedback and suggestions from internal and external stakeholders to help improve initiative; use data to develop and present recommendations
- Track and contribute data including but not limited to:
 - Delivery of student service through use of professional development modules
 - Meetings and other significant contacts with students, including time spent directly with students, type of assistance rendered, etc.
